Methodology for the World Café Sessions:

The group will break down into 4 tables organised thematically. each of which will be moderated by one member of the organizational committee (Mieke Verloo, Neil Datta, Andrea Krizsan, Conny Roggeband).

Participants will be at each table for 30 mins, and then move to the next. Hence all participants will have a chance to participate in all the tables.

Participants' insights on the topic being discussed will be gathered on post-its, with which the moderator will then create a "post-it tree", with all of them. The moderator will then report the main conclusions and debates that have arisen in the round table.

The Seville Declaration:

The central output that will follow from the conference will be the Seville Declaration, which will outline the fundamental challenges against gender+ equality in Europe today and make policy and advocacy recommendations for a feminist counter strategy.
